Sexual Assault

Sexual assault is any form of unwanted sexual activity including fondling, touching and/or penetration without consent.

Consent is a voluntary agreement between two adults to engage in sexual activity.

Someone who is under the influence of a medication, drugs and/or alcohol is considered impaired and can not give consent.

Any individual can be sexually assaulted regardless of gender identity. It is a serious crime whether committed by a stranger, friend, family member or partner.

75% of all sexual assaults are committed by someone the victim knows and trusts.

Domestic Violence

Domestic Violence (also referred to as Intimate Partner Violence) is a crime. It results from an imbalance of power and control over one's partner.

This type of abuse can come in many forms: physical, psychological, emotional, sexual, financial, material, spiritual, or verbal threats.

55% of police reported domestic violence incidents are committed by a dating partner.

Physical assault (77%) is the most common offence experienced by victims/survivors of police-reported violence; followed by uttering threats and criminal harassment.
